

Legal Administrative Assistant

(30 week program)

A young woman is desperately fighting for the custody of her child . . .
A senior citizen, cheated by a fraudulent investment firm, needs help . . .
Newlyweds, nervous and confused, are buying their first home . . .
A terrified young man, accused of a crime, struggles to survive . . .

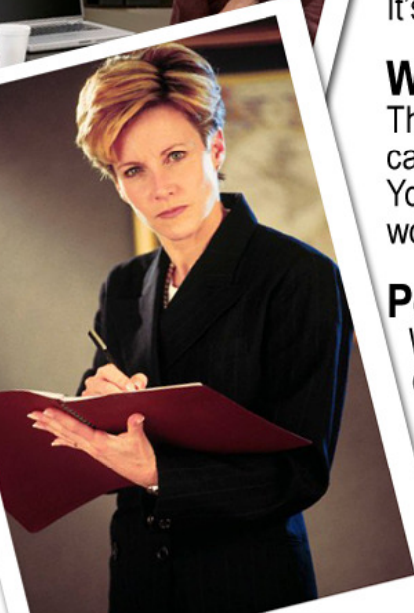

Working in a law office is more than just another desk job.
It's real life, come to call.

A Career with a Difference

Your career in a law office isn't like most office jobs.
Sure, you've got all the skills of any other Administrative Assistant. You prepare business communication. You're confident with computer programs and you know how to manage an office. You make appointments, manage accounts and keep things on track.
So . . . what's different?
It's the Law.

What You Do Matters

The law defines society. It structures the way we live and tells us what we can and cannot do. It protects us.
You've always been fascinated by the law and have dreamt of being part of that world. Robertson College makes it possible.

People Come for Help

When people arrive at your office, they're there for help. Whether it's family law, civil litigation, a criminal matter; they turn to the law to help them defend their rights as citizens. Your understanding of legal fundamentals makes you an important part of the team that provides the assistance they need.
It's an important profession.

A Career with Options

Your Robertson College training opens the door to a career in both the public and private sectors. Whichever area you choose, you know that it's important work!
