Health Careers In High Demand

Chelsea Sylvestre certainly had the right reasons for pursuing her new career dreams. She selected a career as a Health Unit Clerk because she “wanted to make a difference and help where it was really needed”.

Chelsea is a recent graduate of Robertson College’s Health Unit Clerk program and is now enjoying her role at Health Sciences Centre. “It was not difficult to find a job” says Chelsea, “Robertson College provided all the tools I needed to find a good job. I started my practicum on a ward that I had always wanted to work in, and I got offered a position early into my practicum.”

Chelsea’s situation is not unique advises Wayne Palendat, Vice President of Robertson College. He points out that in the past few weeks as many as 23 Health Unit Clerk positions have been posted on the HSC employment opportunities website.

When asked about the duties she is asked to perform on the job, Chelsea stated that in addition to transcribing Dr.’s orders and processing a great deal of patient paper work, “I am the nurse’s “go to person” when they need anything. I get to interact with a lot of different people everyday; from nurses to doctors, patients and their families.”

Once she had done the research and made the decision to pursue a career as a Health Unit Clerk, Chelsea says that she researched all the top schools in Winnipeg. “I found that Robertson was very highly ranked and there were new classes starting all the time.” This schedule of class start dates allowed Chelsea to get started on her new career path almost immediately. “Robertson was fantastic” she boasts, “the education was of great quality and I benefited from one on one explanations and in-depth training.”

Perhaps the most compelling comment that Chelsea makes about her training was “I felt that my teacher was as committed to seeing me succeed as I was committed to my own success.”

“I would certainly recommend this career to others” says Chelsea, “you need to be a hard worker and have great interpersonal, communication and organizational skills.”

Robertson College’s next Health Unit Clerk course begins in May and students will be career ready by September. Interested individuals should contact Robertson at 943-5661 or visit www.robertsoncollege.com
